Course Introduction / Overview:

This comprehensive program delves into the strategic and practical aspects of targeted social media marketing across the industry-leading platforms: Meta (Facebook and Instagram), Snapchat, and TikTok. It is a deep-dive exploration of how modern businesses can effectively plan, execute, and measure high-impact advertising campaigns on the platforms shaping contemporary digital consumption and short-form content. Participants will move beyond simple posting to master advanced campaign creation, audience targeting, budget optimization, and performance analysis, learning to navigate the unique algorithms and user behaviors of each network. The course incorporates strategic frameworks, drawing inspiration from leading academic thought in the digital marketing field. For instance, the works of authors like Dr. Yogesh K. Dwivedi, who studies digital and social media, emphasize the strategic integration of these channels for maximum business impact, a theme central to this curriculum. Furthermore, concepts detailed in professional texts like "Social Media Strategy: A Practical Guide to Social Media Marketing and Customer Engagement" by Julie Atherton provide a practical foundation for campaign architecture. Delivered by BIG BEN Training Center, this course is committed to equipping marketing professionals with the skills needed to achieve measurable return on investment (ROI) from their social media advertising expenditure, focusing on real-world campaign management, paid social strategy, conversion tracking, and building a cohesive brand presence.

Something to think about:

Given the rapid evolution of social media platform algorithms and user behavior, how can a marketing team structure its training and resource allocation to ensure continuous, high-performing targeted advertising campaign management while minimizing the risk of knowledge obsolescence?

What unique qualities does this course offer compared to other courses?

This is not a general overview course; it is an academically informed, practitioner-led deep dive into targeted social media campaign management with a laser focus on the three dominant, high-growth advertising platforms: Meta (Facebook/Instagram), Snapchat, and TikTok. Most programs offer fragmented or platform-specific training, but BIG BEN Training Center delivers an integrated, cross-platform paid social strategy, recognizing that modern consumers move seamlessly between these environments. The course's uniqueness stems from its practical emphasis on conversion tracking and measurable ROI, moving participants past vanity metrics to master the art of paid media buying and budget optimization. We use a framework that connects academic principles of strategic marketing, such as audience targeting and campaign architecture from renowned authors like Julie Atherton, with the real-time, dynamic nature of short-form video advertising. The training is structured around simulating actual advertising campaigns, allowing participants to practice with advanced features like Lookalike Audiences and sophisticated creative testing, skills that are immediately applicable to corporate objectives. This holistic, results-driven approach to high-stakes social media marketing ensures graduates are prepared to execute enterprise-level campaigns that drive significant business outcomes.
