Course Introduction / Overview:

The Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) markets are undergoing significant economic transformation, leading to increased regulatory scrutiny and robust enforcement of competition laws. Navigating this complex legal landscape is no longer optional but a critical necessity for sustainable business operations. This intensive training course provides a comprehensive A-to-Z guide to the principles, regulations, and practical applications of competition law and anti-trust compliance across the GCC. Drawing on foundational concepts articulated by leading scholars like Richard Whish in his seminal work "Competition Law," the program demystifies complex topics such as anti-competitive agreements, abuse of a dominant market position, and merger control regulations. Participants will gain a deep understanding of the legal frameworks in key jurisdictions like the UAE, Saudi Arabia, and Qatar. BIG BEN Training Center has designed this course to move beyond theoretical knowledge, focusing on real-world scenarios, regional case studies, and the strategic development of effective compliance programs. This ensures that attendees are not only aware of the rules but are also equipped to proactively manage competition-related risks, protect their organizations from substantial fines and reputational damage, and foster a culture of fair competition that supports long-term growth and market integrity.

Course Methodology:

The training methodology at BIG BEN Training Center is designed to be highly interactive, practical, and engaging, ensuring that participants can immediately apply their learning in a professional context. We move beyond traditional lecture-based formats to create a dynamic learning environment that fosters deep understanding and skill development. The course heavily relies on the analysis of real-world case studies drawn from recent enforcement actions by GCC competition authorities, allowing participants to dissect complex legal issues and understand their practical consequences. Interactive group discussions, workshops, and simulation exercises, such as responding to a mock dawn raid, are central to our approach. These activities encourage collaborative problem-solving and allow attendees to explore different perspectives on challenging compliance scenarios. Our expert instructors act as facilitators, guiding discussions, providing personalized feedback, and sharing invaluable insights from their extensive experience in the field. This blended learning approach, combining expert instruction with hands-on application, ensures that participants leave the course with not only the necessary knowledge but also the confidence to navigate the intricate landscape of GCC competition law.

Something to think about:

As digital platforms increasingly dominate GCC markets, how should traditional abuse of dominance principles be adapted to address novel anti-competitive conduct in the digital economy?

What unique qualities does this course offer compared to other courses?

This course distinguishes itself through its unwavering focus on the specific legal and commercial context of the GCC region. While other programs may offer a general overview of competition law, our curriculum is meticulously tailored to address the unique regulations, enforcement priorities, and market dynamics of jurisdictions like the UAE, Saudi Arabia, and Qatar. We move beyond a simple recitation of legal statutes to provide deep, practical insights into how these laws are applied in reality, using recent regional case studies to illustrate critical compliance challenges. The course emphasizes a proactive, strategic approach to compliance, teaching participants not just how to react to legal issues but how to build a robust compliance culture that prevents them. It bridges the gap between legal theory and business practice, ensuring that legal and commercial professionals alike can understand the implications of competition law on their day-to-day decisions. The methodology prioritizes interactive problem-solving over passive learning, equipping attendees with the practical skills and critical thinking necessary to navigate complex antitrust scenarios with confidence and strategic foresight, making it an unparalleled professional development experience.
